

NOTE NAMES

Notes written on the staff are given a letter name using letters of the alphabet. The letters ABCDEFG are used once, then used over again, always in the same order.

Remember, we learned that notes are not in the same place on the staff for the three clef signs. Clef signs are given to a certain voice or instrument.

violin, flute,
soprano, alto,
clarinet, trumpet,
saxophone, oboe,
french horn,
piano - right hand
keyboard, guitar

viola

cello, trombone
bass, string bass,
bassoon, tenor,
baritone horn,
baritone, tuba,
piano - left hand

Strategy:

1. Find the name of your voice part or instrument below.
2. Draw a circle around this name with your pencil.
3. Write the letter name of the notes for your clef inside the note on each line or space.
4. Copy the letter names from the left of the notes.
5. Do only your clef.

CHECK-UP:

1. The name for the group of music lines and spaces is the _____
2. Notes on lines and spaces are named for letters of the _____
3. The following letters of the alphabet are used for note names:
4. The three basic clef signs are called: _____ and _____
5. Notes are _____ in the same place on the staff for all clefs.
