

LEDGER LINES

Ledger lines are short extra lines above or below the staff for writing very high or very low notes. Notes on ledger lines are written like staff notes, either on a space or line. Ledger line notes are named with letters of the alphabet ABCDEFG in the same order as we learned earlier.

Strategy:

1. Look carefully at the example of ledger line notes for your clef.
2. Answer questions below by writing the correct letter name for each ledger line note on the blank line.
3. Name only the notes for your clef.
4. On the right, draw two ledger line notes on the staff.

NAME the note for your clef on the:

- _____ 1st space above the staff
 _____ 1st space below the staff
 _____ 1st line above the staff
 _____ 1st line below the staff
 _____ 2nd space above the staff
 _____ 2nd space below the staff

DRAW two notes above or below the staff using ledger lines:

CHECK-UP:

1. _____ are short extra lines above or _____ the staff.
2. Ledger lines are used to write very _____ or very _____ notes outside the staff.
3. Notes on ledger lines can be written either on a _____ or a _____
4. Write the letter name for each clef sign:
 Treble Clef or _____ Clef
 Alto Clef or _____ Clef
 Bass Clef or _____ Clef
