

DOUBLE BAR REPEAT SIGN

Two more signs to help you in the language of music are the double bar line and the repeat sign.

A double bar is two vertical lines which tells you to stop playing or singing. The sign is usually found at the end of a song. It means the end of a song or section.

A repeat sign looks like a double bar except it has two dots added to it. This sign tells you to play or sing that section again. You will go back to the beginning to where you saw the last group of dots.

DOUBLE BAR EXAMPLE:

REPEAT SIGN EXAMPLE:

CHECK-UP:

1. The double bar lines tell you to _____ playing or singing. This is the _____ of a song or section.
2. The repeat sign looks just like a double bar except it has two _____ beside the two lines.
3. The repeat sign tells you to play or sing that section _____
4. Bar lines divide the staff into short sections called _____

Strategy:

1. Copy the example of the double bar lines on the blank staff.
2. Be sure the lines are at the very end of each staff.
3. Also copy the repeat signs on each blank staff.

DRAW 3 DOUBLE BARS

DRAW 3 REPEAT SIGNS

